

SCENE 13 · NUMBER 7

Երրորդ սեղանը

Early morning in the café. At the same minute every day, a neat man in a blue shirt comes in and walks to the table by the window. Mariam nods at him and whispers. His usual order is tea without sugar, one bread roll and the bill. You copy that order exactly; coffee is mentioned only while asking about the menu prices.

Translation

A man comes to the café. He sits at table three.

■ And table one?

○ It is in your kitchen.

He checks under the table, sits down and orders without a look at the menu.

▲ Good morning. One tea without sugar, one roll and the bill, please.

○ As always.

▲ Yes. Everything at once.

■ The menu, please.

○ Here you are. The prices are at the bottom.

■ How much does a coffee cost?

○ Four hundred Armenian drams. Tea is three hundred, and a roll is three hundred.

■ All right. One tea without sugar, one roll and the bill, please.

○ The bill? Already? Even the tea is not here yet.

■ I am ordering like him.

○ All right. Tea and a roll: six hundred drams.

Mrru jumps onto the man's table and grabs his pen.

He climbs up onto his chair.

Mrru jumps onto the table. He takes the man's pen.

▲ A cat! There is a cat here!

○ Calm down. This is Mrru.

He drops the exact money on the table and hurries to the door.

▲ Here is the money. Goodbye.

■ He is afraid of cats.

○ Very. But he comes every day.

■ And his name?

○ I do not know. His name is "Tea without sugar".

■ And his pen?

○ It is Mrru's now.

Under table 3, ՄռնԼ lies on his back with the pen between his paws. On the table: the exact money, to the cent.
