

SCENE 13 · NUMBER 7

बिना चीनी की चाय

Early morning in the café. At the same minute every day, a neat man in a blue shirt comes in and walks to the table by the window. राधा nods at him and whispers. His usual order is tea without sugar, one bread roll and the bill. You copy that order exactly; coffee is mentioned only while asking about the menu prices.

Translation

■ Table three. That man comes here every morning.

○ And table one?

■ In your kitchen.

He checks under the table, sits down and orders without a look at the menu.

▲ One tea without sugar, a bread roll and the bill, please.

■ Yes, sir.

☐ The menu, please.

■ Here you are. The prices are at the bottom.

☐ I did not understand. How much is coffee?

■ Coffee sixty rupees. Tea forty. A roll thirty. Cake one hundred.

☐ One tea without sugar, a roll and the bill, please.

■ The bill? Now? All right, tea and a roll are seventy rupees.

Moti jumps onto the man's table and grabs his pen.

He climbs up onto his chair.

He drops the exact money on the table and hurries to the door.

▲ A tomcat! No! The bill, quickly!

■ Seventy rupees, sir.

▲ Here is the money. Goodbye!

■ He is very afraid of cats.

☐ What is his name?

■ I do not know. Tea without sugar. That is his name.

○ And his pen?

■ Now it is Moti's.

Under table 3, मोती lies on his back with the pen between his paws. On the table: the exact amount of money.
