

SCENE 20 • NUMBER 7

Deset sveč

Saturday. Balloons in the courtyard, a long table, a cake with ten candles. Nika's mother, the town doctor, is here too, with the usual party questions: Are you married? Do you have children? And your parents, where do they live? Then Ana turns the photo round: a boy of ten with a trumpet and a terrible haircut, at a window of number 7. Jure grew up in your flat.

Translation

■ Hello! Today is my birthday. I am ten now!

○ Happy birthday! This is from Jure and me.

She tears off the paper.

■ A yellow sketchbook! Thank you very much!

Maja carries out a big cake with ten candles.

▲ Here is the cake. Ten candles.

■ One, two, three ... Ten!

A tall woman with a light-brown ponytail sits down next to you.

● Hello. I am Petra, Nika's mother. Are you the new neighbour?

○ Yes. Nice to meet you, Doctor.

● Are you married? Do you have children?

○ No. I am not married and I have no children.

● Where do your parents live?

○ In Hamburg.

□ I already know everything. Parents in Hamburg, no children.

● Of course. Mum always knows everything.

Ana takes out the photo that always faced the wall and turns it round: a boy of ten with a trumpet and a terrible haircut, at a window of number 7.

□ Nika, you are ten now. Jure is ten in this photo too.

○ That is my window!

△ That is me. That flat was mine.

■ A funny haircut!

□ That is why the photo faced the wall.

For once, the trumpet plays in daylight, and the whole house sings.

□ Jure, play something for us.

△ Now? During the day?

□ Today you may. Happy birthday! Everyone together!

Muri walks off across the courtyard with one of the candles in his mouth.

■ Muri! The tenth candle!

□ Muri wants a birthday too.

Jure plays in daylight, for once, and the whole house sings. The photo stands on the table now, facing the courtyard. Muri sits on the bench with a candle between his paws.
