■ Hello. Come in and sit down.

■ Where does it hurt?

You don't know the word, so you point at your throat.

○ Here. What is it called in Korean?

■ The throat. Does your throat hurt?

○ Yes. My head hurts too.

■ Since when?

○ Since Saturday. On Friday we rehearsed outside, in the rain.

■ Open your mouth. Say ah.

○ Aaah.

■ Breathe deeply. Once more.

■ Does your back hurt too? And your ears?

○ Not my back. But one ear hurts a little.

She takes your temperature.

■ Thirty-seven point five. A slightly raised temperature.

○ Is it serious?

■ Not at the moment. How much do you sleep?

○ Too little. I always hear a trumpet at night.

She sighs.

■ I know that trumpet.

■ You need rest. Have something to eat too.

○ Jiwoo says the same about Nabi: he is not bad, just hungry.

■ Yes. My daughter knows her stuff.

■ Rest and drink enough. Tea is good too.

■ Have something to eat too. The pharmacy can help with the sore throat.

○ Thank you, Doctor. May I go to the festival on Saturday?

■ Only without a fever and with enough energy. Rest until then.

She listens, looks, and smiles. "You are not very sick. You are tired. And hungry." It is what 지우 said about the cat on your first morning. Her prescription: sleep, tea, and no trumpet after ten at night. For once you like a prescription.
