■ Mads, how old are you?

○ Twenty-eight. Why?

■ Just wondering.

▲ Hello! What are you looking for?

○ We are looking for a present for Freja. She is ten on Saturday.

She looks at Mads over her glasses.

The old woman holds up a small grey toy cat.

▲ How about a toy? Here is a little cat.

○ She already has a cat. A real one.

▲ The one from number seven?

▲ Or paints? These are very good.

○ Freja has plenty of paints. She draws every day.

■ What about a sketchbook?

○ Good idea. She does not have one yet.

She puts two sketchbooks on the counter, a big one and a small one.

▲ There are large and small ones. Blue, green or yellow.

○ Yellow. Freja likes it.

■ How much is the large one?

▲ two hundred and eighty kroner.

○ That is expensive. And the small one?

▲ one hundred and twenty kroner.

■ But it really is small. Freja draws a lot.

○ Then we will buy the large one. one hundred and forty kroner each.

Mads turns red, pays very fast and pulls you to the door.

The old woman takes off her glasses and stares at Mads.

▲ Wait! Mads! The little boy with the trumpet from number seven!

▲ In the old days, you were under my window every day, with your trumpet.

○ Hello, Kirsten. Here is the money. Thank you. Goodbye!

■ The little boy? Mads?

○ I have nothing to say about that.

Out on the street, Mads walks very fast, with the yellow sketchbook under his arm. His ears are still red.
