

SCENE 31 · NUMBER 7

우산을 가져가세요

Tuesday, a bright, warm morning. You come down in a T-shirt. Ms Choi stands at the door with an umbrella. "You must take it." Nabi doesn't want to go out, and that means rain: the best forecast in town. Sujin says Ms Choi is always right. Almost always.

■ Good morning. Where are you going without an umbrella?

○ To work. But it is lovely! Sunshine, twenty degrees.

■ Take your umbrella today.

○ But there are no clouds. No wind either!

■ Nabi is staying indoors. That means rain.

○ Nabi is your weather forecast?

■ Exactly. He is almost always right.

○ Thank you, but I do not need an umbrella today.

■ As you wish.

Outside, Sujin is putting the café tables out on the pavement.

▲ Good morning! It is hot today, isn't it?

○ Yes. Even so, Ms Choi says to take an umbrella...

▲ Ms Choi is always right. Well, almost always.

▲ Where is Nabi? His place at the window is empty.

○ He is staying at home today.

▲ Oh, then you need an umbrella.

Nabi sits on the windowsill, perfectly dry, looking at the sky.

Half past five. You come home soaked to the skin. Ms Choi is already at the door with a towel.

○ You were right, Ms Choi. It is raining. I am completely wet.

■ I can see that. Here is a towel.

○ Thank you. Tomorrow I will take the umbrella.

■ You do not need it tomorrow. Then the sun will shine.

○ How do you know?

■ Nabi.

You don't take it. At half past five you come home soaked, and she is at the door with a towel. "I know." Tomorrow: sun, says 나. 비. Next morning you take the umbrella, and the sun shines. 나. 비 follows you all the way to the office.
