

SCENE 31 • NUMBER 7

Şemsiyenizi alın

Tuesday, a bright, warm morning. You come down in a T-shirt. Ayşe stands at the door with an umbrella. "You must take it." Tekir doesn't want to go out, and that means rain: the best forecast in town. Zeynep says Ayşe is always right. Almost always.

Translation

- Good morning. Where are you going without an umbrella?
- To work. Look what lovely weather! Sun, twenty-five degrees.
- Today you must take an umbrella.
- An umbrella? But there are no clouds! And no wind.
- Tekir doesn't want to go outside today. That means rain.
- The cat is a weather forecast?
- The best forecast in town.
- Thanks, but I don't need an umbrella.
- As you like.

Outside, Zeynep is putting the café tables out on the pavement.

- ▲ Good morning! It's hot today, isn't it?
- Very hot! And Ayşe Hanım says I need an umbrella.
- ▲ Ayşe is always right. Well, almost always.
- ▲ And where's Tekir? Every morning he sits in my window.
- Today he's at home.
- ▲ Oh. Then take an umbrella.

Tekir sits on the windowsill, perfectly dry, looking at the sky.

Half past five. You come home soaked to the skin. Ayşe is already at the door with a towel.

☐ Ayşe Hanım... you were right.

☒ I know. Here's a towel.

☐ Thank you. Tomorrow I'm taking the umbrella.

☒ Tomorrow you don't need it. Tomorrow it's sunny.

☐ Who says so?

☒ Tekir.

You don't take it. At half past five you come home soaked, and she is at the door with a towel. "I know." Tomorrow: sun, says Tekir. Next morning you take the umbrella, and the sun shines. Tekir follows you all the way to the office.
