Translation

■ Good morning. Do you have a pen?

○ Yes. What is this?

She holds up a pen and a printed form.

■ Your form.

She reads out the whole form in one breath.

■ Name, surname, address, country, languages, job.

○ Sorry. A little more slowly, please.

Now she speaks very, very slowly.

■ Name. Surname.

○ Not that slowly.

■ How is your name written?

○ Here. I am writing it here.

■ Good. And the surname?

○ Here.

■ Where are you from?

○ I am from Germany. From Hamburg.

■ Do you speak Armenian?

○ A little. I also speak German and English.

She is delighted, and talks even faster.

■ Wonderful. Well, now...

○ Slowly, please.

■ What work do you do?

○ I am an engineer. But I know few Armenian words.

- ☐ You are not writing anything.

From her cardigan pocket she takes a small brass name plate for your letterbox.

- ☒ I already know everything. Here is your name. For the letterbox.

- ☐ Without a mistake?

- ☒ Of course.

She holds out a small brass name plate for your letterbox. Your surname is on it, already spelled right. The form under her arm is still empty.
