Translation

■ Good morning!

○ Morning? It's half past five in the evening!

■ It's morning for me. I'm getting up now. How are you?

○ A little better. I need something for my throat. The pharmacy closes at six.

■ Come on, let's go. Ten minutes on foot.

17:58. The pharmacist is already holding his keys.

▲ Good evening. We close at six. What do you need?

○ My throat hurts. I need something for it.

▲ Here are lozenges. Let them dissolve slowly in your mouth. Read the instructions carefully.

○ Please show me. How much do they cost?

▲ Nine pounds and ninety pence for a pack.

Jack quickly puts something small on the counter.

▲ Anything else?

■ Yes. This here, please.

▲ Here you are. We're closing now.

- A present for you. For the night.
- Earplugs? What are those?
- For your ears. I like playing the trumpet at night.
- Thank you. Now I can sleep.
- And I can play. Good night!

At the till he buys something too, and gives it to you outside: earplugs. "For the night. Sorry about the trumpet." That night you hear nothing and sleep twelve hours.
