Translation

Wednesday afternoon. Elzė comes straight from school with a toy doctor's kit and a white coat that is much too big.

■ Good day! I'm Doctor Elzė. Your appointment is now.

○ Good day, doctor.

■ Micius is my nurse.

○ Are you a real doctor?

■ Mum is a real doctor. And I'm the best one.

■ So, where does it hurt?

○ My throat. But it's already better.

She looks into your mouth very seriously with a toy torch.

■ Open your mouth. Say 'ah'.

○ Aaah...

She checks her toy thermometer.

■ Hmm. No temperature.

○ Is that bad?

■ No. That's very good.

■ How many hours do you sleep now?

○ Twelve. Jonas gave me earplugs.

■ Twelve! Almost like Micius!

She writes on a page of her notebook, the tip of her tongue between her teeth, and reads it out.

- Here's your prescription.
- 'One: pancakes, three times a day. Two: cat on feet.'
- 'Three: on Saturday, the festival. You must come!'
- But Tomas says: no cats in the bed!
- It's a prescription. A prescription is more important than Tomas's list.

Ona comes in with a big plate of pancakes.

- ▲ Here are the pancakes. As prescribed.
- Thank you, Mrs Ona! Thank you, doctor!

Very seriously.

- ▲ Doctor Elzė, is the patient allowed to eat?
- Yes. But only three pancakes.

She packs her kit. Micius jumps off the bed and follows her to the door.

- The appointment is over. Goodbye!

Her prescription: "Pancakes, three times a day. Cat on feet. Festival: Saturday. YOU MUST COME." Ona brings the pancakes. Next morning you feel better. The toy thermometer is gone.
