Translation

Tamás lives beside the station. He has many lists.

- Monday. I get up at six.
- I wash at quarter past six.
- Breakfast at seven. Two eggs.
- The café at half past seven. Table three.
- Tea without sugar. The office at quarter to nine.

His mother calls on Sunday evening.

- Tamás, are you well? Are you eating?
- Yes. At seven, half past twelve and six.
- What are the people at work like?
- Friendly. The new neighbour works with us too.
- There's a cat at that neighbour's home.
- A cat? But you are afraid of cats!
- Only a little, Mum.
- Eat well. Sleep well. Do not be late.
- I'm never late.

It's Monday morning. The clock is not running. Tamás is still sleeping.

- What time is it? Oh! Half past eight!
- There's no time for breakfast today.
- ▲ Where is Mr Without Sugar?
- It's ten past nine. Tamás is not here!
- Hello. I know, I know. I was late.
- The clock is not running. My list is at home.

● It's all right. Here is coffee. The meeting is on Thursday.

■ That is right. Thank you very much.

Cirmi sits on Tamás's desk.

● Why are you afraid of cats?

■ There was a big black cat at Grandma's home.

■ I was five years old. The cat was on my face!

● But Cirmi is grey. He's a good cat.

■ All right, Cirmi. Sit here. Do not go on the computer!

● Is there a new list today?

■ Yes. Three clocks. I must not be late. Cirmi is grey!

It's evening. There are three clocks on the table.
