Translation

■ Hello. Come in and sit down. Where does it hurt?

You don't know the word, so you point at your throat.

○ Here. What is this called in English?

■ The throat. Does your throat hurt?

○ Yes. My head too. Since Saturday. On Friday we had rehearsal outside, in the rain.

■ Open your mouth. Say ah. Breathe deeply. Once more.

○ Aaah.

■ Does your back hurt too? And your ears?

○ Not my back. One ear a little.

She takes your temperature.

■ Thirty-seven point five. A slightly raised temperature.

○ Is it serious?

■ Not at the moment. How much do you sleep?

○ Too little. I always hear a trumpet at night.

She sighs.

- I know that trumpet.
- You need rest. Eat something too.
- Nicky says the same about Milo. He isn't bad. He's just hungry.
- My daughter knows a lot.
- Rest and drink enough. Tea is good too. The pharmacy can help with your throat.
- May I go to the festival on Saturday?
- Only without a fever and with enough energy. Rest until then.

She listens, looks, and smiles. "You are not very sick. You are tired. And hungry." It is what Nicky said about the cat on your first morning. Her prescription: sleep, tea, and no trumpet after ten at night. For once you like a prescription.
