Translation

■ Hi! Can I come in?

○ Hi, Lotte. Come in!

■ Is that your new flat?

○ Yes. It is small, but I like it.

She points at the half-open bathroom door.

■ And that room over there?

○ That is the bathroom.

■ Almost everything is empty here! Where is your table?

○ I do not have a table yet.

■ And chairs? And a sofa?

○ There are no chairs and no sofa. Just a bed, a lamp and a suitcase.

■ Why?

○ I have only been here since yesterday. My things are still in the suitcase.

■ Everything in one suitcase?

She points up at the big wardrobe. It is shut.

■ But the wardrobe is big. Does it belong to you?

○ No. It is already here. It is quite old.

■ Can I have a look inside?

○ Yes, of course.

The wardrobe is open. Mikesch sits inside on spoons and a big old key.

○ Mikesch! And spoons! And my key! What are you doing here?

She slams the wardrobe shut and leans against the doors.

■ Nothing! There is nothing here at all.

Lotte leans against the wardrobe door with a very innocent smile. From inside the wardrobe comes a quiet, happy purr.
