Half past five. Ġorġ knocks at your door in his dressing gown, with a cup of coffee.

- Good morning!
- Good morning? It's half past five in the evening!
- For me it's morning now. I always get up at five.
- You're ill, right? Marija knows everything. How do you feel?
- Bad. But a little better than this morning.
- I need medicine for my throat. But the pharmacy closes at six.
- Then come on, quick! It's ten minutes on foot.

17:58. Ravi, the pharmacist, is already holding his keys.

- ▲ Good evening. We close in two minutes.
- Sorry! I need something for my throat.
- ▲ Sore throat? Here, these tablets. They're very good.
- How many do I take?
- ▲ Two tablets, three times a day. After meals, not before.

○ Twice a day?

▲ No, three times. Two tablets each time.

○ Three times, after meals. How much are they?

▲ Nine euros ninety. In two days you'll feel better.

▲ Anything else?

Ġorġ quickly puts something small on the counter.

■ And this too, please.

He locks the door behind you.

▲ Six o'clock. Closed!

Outside, he hands you the small packet: earplugs.

■ These are for you. For the night.

○ Earplugs?

■ Sorry about the trumpet. I play best at night.

○ Thanks, Ġorġ! Now I can sleep.

■ And now I'm off to play. Good night!

At the till he buys something too, and gives it to you outside: earplugs. "For the night. Sorry about the trumpet." That night you hear nothing and sleep twelve hours.
