Translation

■ This is the market. Saturdays, from seven until one.

■ I need ten kilos of apples for the café.

○ Ten kilos? That is a lot!

■ For apple cake. And you? What do you need?

○ Tomatoes, potatoes, milk and cheese. Today I am cooking at home.

▲ Good morning. What can I get you?

○ A kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please.

▲ Of course. Anything else?

○ Half a kilo of cheese and a bottle of milk.

▲ Here you are. Twelve euros fifty.

● Good morning. You live at number seven, right?

○ Yes. How do you know?

● The hairs on your jacket! Michi comes every Saturday.

○ But he is not mine.

At the fish stall he unrolls a very long paper bill, down to the cobbles, with a little fish drawn on every line.

● He lives with you. Here is his bill for this month.

○ So much fish? How much is it all?

● Forty-two euros.

Clara laughs and takes out her purse. The fish seller grins and holds out his hand.

■ You do not have to pay. I will pay. Like every month.

○ You? Why do you pay for his fish?

■ He sits in my window. People see him and come in. It is good for business.

The fish seller stops you. "Number 7? Here is Michi's bill for the whole month." A very long bill, 42 euros. Clara laughs and pays. "Every month." Michi sits in her window every morning, and people come in to look at him.
