Translation

■ Do you see the man at table three? He comes every morning.

○ And table one?

■ It is in your kitchen now.

The man in the blue shirt looks under the table by the window.

▲ A black coffee without sugar. A bread roll and the bill, please.

- Yes, of course.
- The menu, please.
- Here you are. The prices are below.
- How much does a coffee cost?
- One euro eighty. Tea is one forty; a bread roll one twenty; cake two twenty.
- Good. I know what I want.
- A black coffee without sugar. A bread roll and the bill, please.
- The bill already? But you have nothing yet!
- Well. Coffee and a bread roll: three euros.

Michi lands on the table and grabs the pen. The man jerks back.

- ▲ A cat! No, please!

The man stands on his chair. Michi sits on the table with the pen.

- ▲ The bill! Quickly!

- Three euros.

The man hurries out. A stack of coins lies on the table.

- ▲ Here you are. Thank you. Goodbye.

■ He is afraid of cats.

○ What is his name?

■ To me, Black Coffee Without Sugar.

○ And his pen?

■ It belongs to Michi now.

Under table 3, Michi lies on his back with the pen between his paws. On the table: the exact money, to the cent.
