Translation

■ Wet clothes again?

○ There is a storm at the market. I am soaked. The shoes too.

■ And the umbrella?

○ At the office. When I leave home, it is sunny.

■ The sun does not last all day.

■ And the yellow jacket?

○ Wet too. It is warm, but not waterproof.

■ You need a raincoat. For our April.

On the landing, Frau Martín holds out an old dark-green raincoat with both hands.

■ Wait here.

■ My raincoat. Green, old, but good. Put it on.

○ Now I am dry! And warm!

■ It suits you. Better than the yellow jacket.

○ Thank you. How old is it?

■ Forty. Older than you!

○ There is something in the pocket. A key. It is very heavy.

In her hand, a heavy old key with a worn paper tag on a string. She looks at you over her glasses.

○ It says attic. Is it the attic key?

■ Yes. Keep it.

○ Me? Why?

■ Now you are part of the number seven family.

○ What is upstairs?

■ Old things. Lots of old things.

○ Achoo!

■ To bed. I will make you tea.

○ But tomorrow we rehearse again.

■ You do not have to come. Better in bed.

○ Yes, Mrs Martín.

■ Good. Tea first.

Elvira brings an old green raincoat from the cupboard. "My old raincoat. Put it on. It suits you." In the pocket is a heavy old key with a label: "Attic". "Keep it. You are one of number 7 now." You sneeze. In bed with your tea, you see Michi sitting by the key, staring at it for a long time.
