Translation

Thomas lives by the station. He has many lists.

- Monday. I get up at six.
- I wash at a quarter past six.
- At seven I eat two eggs.
- Half past seven: the café. Table three. Tea without sugar.
- Quarter to nine: the office.

On Sunday evening his mother calls.

- Are you well? Are you eating?
- Yes. At seven, half past twelve and six.
- What are the other people at work like?
- Nice. The new neighbour works with us too.
- There is a cat at our new colleague's home.
- But you are afraid of cats!
- Only a little, Mum.
- Eat well. Sleep well. Do not be late.
- I am never late.

It is Monday. The clock has stopped. Thomas is still asleep.

- What time is it? Oh! Half past eight!

Today he does not wash. He does not eat either.

- ▲ Where is Tea without sugar?
- It is ten past nine. Thomas is not here!
- Hello. I know. I am late.
- My clock has stopped. My list is at home.

- It is all right. Here is coffee.

Findus sits on Thomas' desk.

- Why are you afraid of cats?
- Grandma had a big black cat. It lay on my face.
- I was five. It was frightening.
- But Findus is grey. He is a good cat.
- All right, Findus. Sit here. Not on the computer.

In the evening there are three clocks on the table.

- New list: three clocks. Be on time. Findus is grey!
