- Here is the market. Saturdays from seven until one.
- I need ten kilos of apples for the café.
- Ten kilos? That really is a lot.
- For apple cake! And what do you need?
- Tomatoes, potatoes, milk and cheese. Today I am cooking at home.
- ▲ Good morning. What would you like?
- A kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please.
- ▲ Certainly. Anything else?
- Half a kilo of cheese and a bottle of milk, please.
- ▲ Here you are. It is one hundred and twenty-five kroner.
- He unrolls a very long bill.*
- Good morning. You live in number seven, right?
- Yes. How do you know?
- The cat hairs on your jacket! Findus comes every Saturday.
- But he is not mine.

● He lives at your place. Here is his bill for this month.

○ That much fish? How much does it all cost?

● four hundred and twenty kroner.

Sofie laughs and takes out her purse.

■ You do not pay anything. I pay. Every month.

○ You? Why do you pay for his fish?

■ Findus sits in the café window every day. People see him and come in. It is good for business.

The fish seller stops you. "Number 7? Here is Findus's bill for the whole month." A very long bill, 420 kroner. Sofie laughs and pays. "Every month." Findus sits in her window every morning, and people come in to look at him.
