Translation

■ Good day! Come in, sit down.

■ So, where does it hurt?

You don't know the word, so you point at your throat.

○ Here. How do you say that in Estonian?

■ Throat. Your throat hurts.

○ Yes, my throat. And my head.

■ Since when?

○ Since Saturday. On Friday I was at the rehearsal and got soaked.

■ Open your mouth and say 'ah'.

○ Aaah...

■ Now breathe in deeply. Once more.

■ Does your back hurt? Your ears?

○ My back doesn't hurt. But my ear hurts a little.

She takes your temperature.

■ Your temperature is thirty-seven point five. A little high.

○ Is that bad?

- Not really. How many hours do you sleep?
- Not much. At night the neighbour plays the trumpet. There's a new rule, but...

She sighs.

- I know that trumpet.
- You're not very ill. You're tired. And hungry.
- Liis said that about Muri! On my first morning: he isn't bad, he's just hungry.
- Yes. My daughter is always right.
- You must sleep a lot and drink a lot. Tea three times a day.
- Eat fruit and vegetables. And at the pharmacy, buy something for your throat.
- Thank you. And on Saturday there's the festival. Can I go?
- Bed until Saturday. Then yes.

She listens, looks, and smiles. "You are not very sick. You are tired. And hungry." It is what Liis said about the cat on your first morning. Her prescription: sleep, tea, and no trumpet after ten at night. For once you like a prescription.
