Translation

On the way back, the Saturday market in the square. Lina has a big basket.

- Here's the market. Every Saturday, in the morning.
- I buy ten kilos of apples for the café.
- Ten kilos? That's a lot of apples!
- For the cakes. Here, an apple for you! And you, what do you want to buy?
- I have a list for dinner. A long list!

A farm stall with vegetables, cheese and milk. Tereza is behind the counter.

- ▲ Good morning! What would you like?
- I'd like a kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please.
- ▲ Here you are. Anything else?
- Yes, half a kilo of cheese and a bottle of milk.
- ▲ Is that everything? Then it's twelve fifty.

Salvu, the fish seller, waves you over to his stall.

- Good morning! You're from number 7, aren't you?

- ☐ Yes. How do you know?
- ☒ You've got cat hair on your jacket. And Ċikku comes here every Saturday.
- ☐ Ċikku isn't my cat.

He unrolls a very long bill.

- ☒ But he lives at number 7, doesn't he? So here's his bill for the whole month.
- ☐ So much fish! How much is it?
- ☒ Forty-two euros.

Lina laughs and takes out her purse.

- ☒ Never mind. I'll pay. Every month.
- ☐ Every month? Why you?
- ☒ Because every morning Ċikku sits in my window. And people come just for him.

The fish seller stops you. "Number 7? Here is Ċikku's bill for the whole month." A very long bill, 42 euros. Lina laughs and pays. "Every month." Ċikku sits in her window every morning, and people come in to look at him.
