Translation

Minho lives beside the station. He has many lists.

There is a long list on the fridge door.

■ Monday. I get up at six.

■ I wash at quarter past six.

■ At seven I have breakfast. Two eggs.

■ At half past seven, the café. Table number three.

■ Tea without sugar. The office is at quarter to nine.

Minho gets up at six every day.

On Sunday evening his mother calls.

○ Minho, are you well? Are you eating?

■ Yes. I eat at seven, half past twelve and six.

○ What are the people at work like?

■ They are nice. The new neighbour comes to the company too.

■ There is a cat at that home.

○ A cat? You are afraid of cats!

■ Only a little, Mum.

○ Eat well. Sleep well. Do not be late.

■ I am never late.

It is Monday morning. The clock is not running.

Minho is still sleeping.

■ What time is it? Oh dear! Half past eight!

Today he does not wash. He does not have breakfast either.

Table three in the café is empty.

▲ Where is Mr Without Sugar?

They are at the office. Minho's place is empty.

● It is ten past nine. Minho is not here!

■ Hello. I know, I know. I am late.

■ My clock is not running. My list is at home.

● It is all right. Here is coffee. The meeting is on Thursday.

■ That is right. Thank you very much.

Nabi sits on Minho's desk.

● Why are you afraid of cats?

■ Long ago there was a cat at Grandma's house.

■ It was a big black cat. It was on my face!

■ I was five. It is really frightening.

● But Nabi is grey. He is a good cat.

■ All right, Nabi. Sit here. The computer is off limits.

It is evening. There are three clocks on the table.

■ Here is a new list. Three clocks. Do not be late. Nabi is grey!
