■ Good morning! Come in, come in. There's still one more page in the form!

○ Another page? But Mrs Marija, you already know everything!

■ Not everything. I don't know your mobile number.

On her sideboard stands a red lamp, exactly like the one in your bathroom.

○ Oh! A red lamp. Just like mine!

■ What lamp? Sit down, please!

She taps the first box on the page.

■ So, how many keys do you have?

○ Zero. Ċikku has my key again.

■ Again? And where is it now?

○ I don't know. Not in the wardrobe. The wardrobe's empty now!

She writes it down.

■ Right. Ċikku has ten keys, and you have zero. Now your number, please!

○ Seven, nine, one, two...

She writes as you speak.

■ Seven, nine, one, eight...

○ Not eight, two! Seven, nine, one, two.

■ All right, all right. And?

○ Three, four, five, six.

■ Three, four, five, nine.

○ Not nine! Six. Six, Mrs Marija!

■ Seven, nine, one, two, three, four, five, six. Right?

○ Yes, yes! Thank you.

She underlines the number, and at that very second...

Your phone is ringing.

▲ Good morning! It's Lina. The coffee's already on the table. Are you coming?

○ I'm coming! But... how do you know my number?

Marija looks innocently out of the window towards the café, humming. Who gave Lina your number? Certainly not her.
