Translation

Rohan lives near the station. A long list is on the fridge.

■ I get up at six. Shower at a quarter past six. At seven, two eggs and bread.

- Half past seven, café. Table three. Tea without sugar. Quarter to nine, office.

On Sunday evening at seven his mother calls.

- How are you? Do you eat? Do you sleep?

- Yes. I eat at seven, half past twelve and six. I sleep at ten.

- What are your colleagues like?

- They are nice. My new colleague lives at number seven. With a cat.

- With a cat? You are afraid of cats.

- No. Just a little.

- Do not be late. Good night.

- I am never late.

At night the clock stops. On Monday morning Rohan sleeps.

- What time is it? Half past eight! My clock! I am late!

No breakfast or café today. Table three is empty.

▲ Where is Tea Without Sugar?

It is nine ten at the office. Rohan's desk is empty.

● Hello, Rohan. You are late today.

■ I know. The clock stopped. The list is at home. When is the meeting?

● Sit down. Here is coffee. Today is Monday. The meeting is on Thursday.

■ Thank you. You are a good colleague.

Moti sits on the desk.

● Why are you afraid of cats?

■ As a child I visited Grandma. There was a big black cat. One night he sat on my face. I was five.

● On your face! But Moti is not bad.

■ All right. Sit here. Not on the computer.

In the evening three new clocks are on the table.

- A new list. One, three clocks. Two, do not be late. Three, Moti is not black. He is grey.
