■ Jonas, how old are you?

○ Twenty-eight. Why?

■ Just wondering.

▲ Hello! What are you looking for?

○ We are looking for a present for Elsa. She is ten on Saturday.

The old woman holds up a small grey toy cat.

She looks at Jonas over her glasses.

▲ How about a toy? Here is a little cat.

○ She already has a cat. A real one.

▲ The one from number seven?

▲ Or paints? These are very good.

○ Elsa has plenty of paints. She draws every day.

■ What about a sketchbook?

○ Good idea. She does not have one yet.

She puts two sketchbooks on the counter, a big one and a small one.

▲ There are large and small ones. Blue, green or yellow.

○ Yellow. Elsa likes it.

■ How much is the large one?

▲ two hundred and eighty kronor.

○ That is expensive. And the small one?

▲ one hundred and twenty kronor.

■ But it really is small. Elsa draws a lot.

○ Then we will buy the large one. one hundred and forty kronor each.

The old woman takes off her glasses and stares at Jonas.

▲ Wait! Jonas! The little boy with the trumpet from number seven!

Jonas turns red, pays very fast and pulls you to the door.

▲ In the old days, you were under my window every day, with your trumpet.

○ Hello, Karin. Here is the money. Thank you. Goodbye!

■ The little boy? Jonas?

○ I have nothing to say about that.

Out on the street, Jonas walks very fast, with the yellow sketchbook under his arm. His ears are still red.
