Translation

Early morning at number 7. The house is still asleep.

Morning. It's very quiet in the house.

Ona is already awake. So is Micius.

■ Good morning, Micius! Are you hungry?

Yes. Micius is very hungry.

■ Here you go. But you're not my cat!

The cat eats, washes his face, and walks out of the door.

Micius goes to the café.

In the café, Rūta is putting cakes in the window.

○ Oh! Good morning, boss!

○ Coffee or tea?

Coffee? No. Tea? No. Micius is looking at the cake.

○ No, no, no! The cake isn't for you!

A moment later the cake on the counter is a little smaller, and the cat is gone.

○ Micius! Where are you?

On the stairs, Elzė sits with her school bag.

▲ Hi, Micius! We're friends, aren't we?

Micius is Elzė's friend, and Elzė is his.

▲ Grandma! Is Micius your cat?

■ No. Micius is not my cat.

▲ Then who is his owner? Jonas?

■ No, not Jonas. And not Rūta.

▲ So where does Micius live?

- Here. And there. And upstairs. And downstairs. And in the café.

That evening you come home and search all your pockets.

- Oh no... Where's my key?
- Mrs Ona! Do you know where my key is?
- Your key? I don't know. Maybe Micius knows.

Night. Upstairs, a trumpet is playing, very quietly.

- Good evening, Jonas. Sorry... Is Micius here?
- Yes. He's asleep over there, in the living room.

Behind the sofa there is an old wooden box. In the box: keys. A lot of keys.

- What's this? A key... and a key... and a key!
- That's my key! And that one is Rūta's!
- And here's my key! Micius!

Micius isn't asleep any more. He's very happy.

- Maybe this is his home. Every key is a home of his.
- All right, Micius. You're the boss here. But I'm taking the key!

Good night, Micius. Good night, house.
