Translation

It is a Saturday morning in June. The market is full of people.

■ Hello! Number seven!

○ Fish for Nabi, please.

■ Of course. Nabi's bill is long already.

▲ Have you known Nabi a long time?

■ Yes. He was very small. A little kitten.

○ Was Nabi small too?

■ One morning he came to the market. It was cold.

■ He was wet. Hungry. As small as my hand.

▲ What did you do?

■ I gave him fish. That was the first bill!

○ Why is his ear like that?

■ There was a big dog. It bit the kitten's ear.

■ That is why Nabi does not like dogs.

Hasan comes too. He has a box of apples.

● Is this Nabi's story? I was there too.

● People gave him fish and milk. Whose cat was he? Nobody knew.

○ Did Nabi live at the market?

● No. He looked for a home. A real home.

● He walked with me. He looked at every house.

● Then he saw a green door.

○ Number seven!

● Yes. He sat on the steps. He waited.

In the afternoon everyone is at Ms Choi's home.

☐ That is right. I was there too. I know everything.

☐ It rained in the evening. I opened the door. There was a small kitten.

☐ He was not my cat. But he came inside. He was the boss!

▲ Where did he sleep?

☐ Flat three. It was empty then.

▲ My flat!

☐ Yes. It was Nabi's home for a long time.

○ And his name? Why Nabi?

☐ I gave it to him. He was a little butterfly. A grey butterfly.

☐ The next day he took his first key.

☐ Whose key?

☐ Flat three's key. It was in my pocket.

▲ My key!

☐ That is right. That is why he took it on your first day too. It was Nabi's key.

Nabi comes. He sits on the bench.

☐ Nabi is not a bad cat. He likes the key!

▲ Then I need many keys.

☐ Would you like tea? I have another story too.

▲ Yes, lovely. Nabi, fish for you?

Nabi says nothing. He is already at the door.
